

Birds of Markham Ravine Walking Tour

Lincoln Creek Week 2007 Activity
Sunday, April 22nd, 7:30 am – 9:00 am
Markham Park

A Birds of Markham Ravine Walking Tour, led by Heath Wakelee, will be conducted on Sunday, April 22nd, 2007. Heath is a member of the Sierra Foothills Chapter of the Audubon Society. This is the fourth year in a row that the Lincoln Creek Week has had the pleasure of the Audubon Society hosting such an educational walk-about. For more information about the Audubon Society please go to their website at the following address:

www.audubon.org

The Sierra Chapter has documented over 100 different birds within the Markham Ravine at one time or another throughout the year. For a complete listing please go to our following website page:

<http://www.markhamravine.org/WildLife-Birds.htm>

Enjoy the early morning fresh air of the Markham Ravine and see how many of these listed birds you can spot. Heath will help with their identification.

Please view our photos of the Bird Watching Walking Tour conducted during Creek Week 2006. We have also provided a link to photos of birds taken by some of the Markham Ravine Neighborhood Committee members over the past several years.

http://www.markhamravine.org/Gallery/Photos_CreekWeek_2006.htm#bird

http://www.markhamravine.org/gallery/photos_Wildlife.htm

The Bird Watching Walking Tour will commence at the Markham Park. It is located on Toyon Circle Dr, near the intersection of Lakeside and Floradale Way, in West Lincoln. Be prepared for any type of weather. Wear a hat and sun block lotion. Wear boots.

BRING BINOCULARS